Competition a Necessity.

"Competition between railways as well as between other industries is the estab-lished policy of the nation. And while the as between other industries is the estabacquisition of a small minority of the stock of a competing line might not decrease the competition, yet the acquisition of any considerable amount of stock, with representation on the board of directors of such railway, unquestionably has the effect of diminishing competition and lessening to that extent its effectiveness. So long as it is the policy of the general gov ernment and of the States to maintain competition between naturally competing lines, the ownership of any stock by one railway in a competing railway should not be permitted, and such lines of railway should be prohibited from having any common directors or officers.

"The time has come when some reasonable regulation should be imposed upon the issuance of securities by railways engaged in interstate commerce. We are aware that in the construction of new lines of railways developing new territory t has been necessary in many instances to sell railway securities at large dis-count, and to sell bonds with stock bonuses, and even in such cases it has many times been difficult to raise the necessary capital.
